BAND LEADS MEETINGS

Brass Band Journal: A New Series

SONGS THAT LIVE

East Toronto.
The Band led the meetings last Sunday. Bandman William Jones, in the Holiness meeting on "Running the race," and his solo were a source of much blessing.

String testimonies were given by several bandmen in the Sunday morning meeting. The address was given by Band Sergeant Thomas. One sister came forward.

On Tuesday night the Band gave their first programme. Lieut.-Colonel Morehen presided. Some splendid testimonies were played, and the Band sang together, "The Lord is my Shepherd." The vocal solos, songs, and recitations were much enjoyed. One comrade gave a solo in the Dutch language. In the interval the Guards served ice cream and cake. The also sold home-made candy in baskets. The Band played "The War Cry" as a closing selection.

Captain and Lieutenant Huffman are in charge.

SCALE PRACTICE

Scale practice is the remedy that has to be put in the hands of the right. It is a sure medicine for weak lips, poor command, feeble tone, nervousness, flexibility in fingering, articulation and intonation. The fact it is an antidote for almost every musical ailment known to Bandmen.

Without a knowledge of scales and the part which each note takes in the formation, it is quite impossible for any player to play correctly in tune. A scale consists of only seven degrees (diatonic) and these seven degrees are usually all either a little flat or sharp according to the degree of the scale, which is the key. Hence, the knowledge of the scales is absolutely necessary if a Bandman hopes to play in tune in his band.

As a matter of fact the seventh degree of any diatonic scale is at all times the sharpest note in that scale. This is the degree of a dominant scale or chord is always the flattest note in that scale or chord. Any note, chromatic, will come in time to time, be the flattest or sharpest note in a scale or chord, and that is one sure reason why a Bandman who does not come fully acquainted with all his scales. There is much interest in playing in such knowledge, also when an instrument is well acquainted with his major and minor scales.

SYMPATHY

Sympathy is essential to good Band work. The habit of "feeling the part" should be acquired at home. Always remember, the less you are soloing other instruments are playing parts in and through which yours will be more like a thread in a texture, not thrust awkward like a battering-ram. An hour of scale practice, the volume never rising above piano, will improve four times of work, and will improve be much more appreciated by the neighbors. The piano piano playing is the finest lip and tongue test one can devise.

A WISE BIRD

A wise old owl lived in an oak. The more he saw, the less he spoke. The less he spoke, the more he heard. Why can't we all be like that bird?

Dr. BENJAMIN F. G. HAWKIN

FOR many years the small Senior Bands of the Army have been pressing their claims with regard to the regular supply of music specially arranged to meet their particular needs.

Band Books Nos. 2 and 3 were purposely designed to meet the needs of this class, and a large class of these publications bears testimony to the great demand existing for music of an easier and less exact form than that issued in the Band Journal for the use of larger and more experienced Bands.

No Systematic Supply.

Band Book No. 2 was published in March, 1906, and No. 3 followed about two years later. For a considerable time these books supplied the needs of the class of Bands they specially catered for, and No. 4 would probably have been on the market a long time ago but for the war. As is well known, it was found difficult to keep the price of the books of the Band Journal going during that troublesome period, and new ventures were quite out of the question. Hence the small Bands of the Army have lately been working under the disadvantage of having no systematic supply of fresh music.

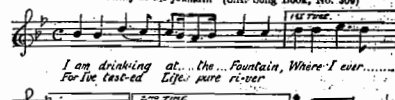

Some of our comrades in the meantime have attempted to negotiate marches and selections for the Band Journal, and the results have been by no means complimentary. Music laid out for full-sized Bands cannot possibly be satisfactory when rendered by incomplete groups. In many cases important parts are given to instruments not included in these small combinations, and, being omitted, the music falls to pieces, so to speak.

Then, again, the music is altogether different in quality from that of the Band Journal, and is at all times the sharpest note in that scale. This is the degree of a dominant scale or chord is always the flattest note in that scale or chord. Any note, chromatic, will come in time to time, be the flattest or sharpest note in a scale or chord, and that is one sure reason why a Bandman who does not come fully acquainted with all his scales. A Blessed Experience :: SING IT EVERYWHERE!

"I am drinking at the Fountain" (S.A. Song Book, No. 309)

I am drinking at the Fountain, Where I feel.....
For the best of life, Life is here.

For life's pleasures now, No a-dorring rich and gay,
Land of Beulah? Bless—oh, blessed Land of Light.

For we found a richer treasure, One that fadeeth not away,
Where the flowers bloom forever, And the sun is always bright.

ARE YOU DOING YOUR SHARE IN THE GREAT CALL CAMPAIGN?

gether too taxing in certain cases where the instruments are not complicated. In large Bands players are able to relieve each other periodically, and so are able to produce a good job. In small Bands, however, each player has to keep going all the time.

Further, the question of expense has been an important point. To be compelled to purchase six pages of music, perhaps only one or two were possible for public use. Naturally, the music will be of a nature less taxing than that issued in the ordinary Band Journal, but it should be fully understood that it does not depend upon complexity. Simple, easy music is often more effective than that of a complicated and involved nature. "Easy" is not effective! It will be one of the principal aims of the music, with a direct spiritual appeal as prominent as systematic as with the present Band Journals.

The instrumentation will necessarily be on a reduced scale, and in this particular will correspond to the original Band Journals prior to 1917. For the following instructions: Hence the small Bands of the Army have lately been working under the disadvantage of having no systematic supply of fresh music.

Full Score for Teaching.

In addition, it is proposed to issue a full score for teaching and conducting purposes. Each copy of the Journal will consist of four pages of music, printed on strong, waterproof manila paper, similar to that used for the current issues of the Band Journal. It is hoped to have the first issue ready for sale in Canada in May.

STAFF SEXTETTE

Pays Visit to Peterboro—Veterans Club to Gladys Munn and Song Touch Many Hearts.

During the week-end, April 23-24, this Corps received a visit from the Staff Sextette, of Toronto. On Saturday night a Musical Festival was introduced over the radio.

Wearing, a prominent leader, and warm friend of the Army.

A had their annual church parade to the Salvation Army Temple. About two hundred and fifty men and women, including the Women's Auxiliary, decorated. The service opened with the singing of the hymn, "O God, be with us in our lives," followed by prayer and an address of welcome to the veterans by Adjutant Danton. A beautiful quartet, consisting of the party paved the way for a heart-to-heart talk by Captain Robertson, who himself having spent his years at the front, instantly won his way to the hearts of his hearers.

The choir address was given by Commandant McEldiney, who knew most of the veterans, many of whom had come to thank God that the Canadian Army had been sent to Peterboro, and had been such a guide and counsellor in their lives. The service was a time of battle. Because of this fact, there was a deep bond of sympathy between the speakers and his hearers, because his own heart was overflowing with the memory of that time of strain for the debt fulfilled and their loved ones, many a heart was touched.

The afternoon song, "The Soldier's Song," was sung with great fervor, and again our souls were lifted heavenward by the beautiful harmonies. Mr. C. O. Cameron, another staff friend, then addressed the veterans. He was supported by the chairman. He was supported by the Major, Mr. C. N. Gordon, M.P., and other prominent men.

In the night meeting two vocal quartettes were rendered; backed up by a personal address by Captain Keith. Following this came a concert and vocal diet by Ensign Beers and Captain Robertson, "God bless the King." Very tender, it was feeling with which this hymn was rendered. Captain Laurie gave an address to the veterans, and a real fight for souls, and we rejoiced to see six persons kneeling at the altar.

Twice between Sunday's meetings the visiting comrades, hurried to an outlying district where a suffering man lay in bed. He was suffering from a severe case of rheumatism. The river was blessed by their thoughtful action.

WITH THOSE IN PRISON

More Reports of the Army's Activities on "Prison Sunday"

THE following additional reports concerning the meetings held in the various prisons, "Prison Sunday," have reached us.

Brigadier Moore, accompanied by Adjutant Owen and Ensign Laurie, visited a special meeting at the Dorchester Penitentiary on Saturday afternoon, April 16. The Brigadier outlined the proceedings and kept the crowd, which filled the chapel, interested. Ensign Laurie gave some splendid music on various instruments. Adjutant Owen read the Bible lesson, and great interest was manifested by the men.

The Warden, Mr. McKeigh, who was the essence of kindness, and his staff, appreciated the meeting very much. The Rev. Mr. Thompson introduced the party to the "boys," and his kindly manner was much appreciated. Quite a number desired to be interviewed by Brigadier Moore, and the warden made it possible for him to do so.

Adjutant Smith conducted an inspiring meeting with the men in the Ottawa Jail. He made a strong appeal to the faith in God as the hope for fallen men, and eight men knelt at the penitentiary form seeking Salvation.

A special feature of the meeting was the singing. This was much enjoyed by the men. Brothers Fry and Bowman, from No. 1, came with Corps Cadet Lizzie Duncan and Adjutant Smith formed the quartet. The men proved a good congregation. Brother Bowman also contributed a solo.

At the same time as the men's meeting was in progress, a meeting in another part of the jail was being conducted with the women prisoners. The women were very interested in the Sisters Mrs. Duncan and Wells and Corps Cadet Edith Nunn. Other workers who took part in the service were Mrs. J. C. Hall, of the Police Department, and Mrs. Phillips, of the Mackay Presbyterian Church.

After the service a very helpful address.

Adjutant Ursaki and Adjutant

Enthusiastic Workers Secure Over Five Thousand Dollars.

There was a very complete organization of workers ready for the day to do duty. They were to raise the night before, feeling that all that could humanly be done had been done to make the day a success. Provision for covering every section of Montreal and surrounding municipalities was made.

A number of the younger taggers were deterred from going out into the streets because of the unfavorable weather. However, considering weather conditions and the number of unemployed in the city,

Wells of the No. 1 and No. 117 Corps conducted the meeting in the various prisons. Through the kindness of the officials, a goodly number of prisoners were present and enjoyed the stirring and earnest address of the two officers. Adjutant Wells read the Scriptures—Commandant Sheard.

Commandant Moore, accompanied by Secretary Woolrich, conducted the meeting at the Dorchester Penitentiary. Mr. Greer, the Jailor, was very kind.

Ensign Chambers, assisted by Sister Fritz, Brother S. C. Cunningham, and Mr. Greer, a friend of the Army, conducted the meeting in the Welland Jail. Sister Fritz and Brother Cunningham sang a duet. Mr. Greer, the Jailor, was very kind, and strongly appealed to the men to live a higher and nobler life through Jesus Christ.

The service in the South Sea, Marie-Jail was conducted by Mrs. Col. J. A. Robertson, accompanied by Corps Cadet Lizzie Duncan and Captain Green. A number of soldiers' testimony was given by Bandman J. A. Robertson.

A desire for missionary work was expressed by the men. The Devil's ranks, served a term in this institution. He thanked God for the Salvation Army and its ministry in this jail, because it was through their efforts and interest he was able to assist in saving, instead of leading to other lives. Baptism was given to one of the inmates, who for the past six weeks had been suffering from a disease that God can save and keep a man, even while serving a term in jail. He had, by the grace of God, conquered the habit of smoking. The Band played a couple of marches, the Male Choir sang, and after other testimonies from Soldiers and Sergeants, Mrs. Jacobs closed with some very fitting and profitable remarks, and during the prayer meeting two prisoners knelt at the bench and asked for pardon. One has shown marked signs of a changed life.

A short term there, and she was farewelled for Newfoundland, having previously had some little experience in day-school teaching, but a very short time she earned her living as a day-school teacher, and later her Senior Trinity College certificate for primary teaching and all certificates for day-school teaching, and now she is teaching in a school during school hours, and giving music lessons to some thirty pupils in the evening.

After a strenuous day for the levelers on the street, four auto made the collections of boxes from the various headquarters and took them to the Canadian Bank of Commerce, where a special corps of workers, augmented by members of the bank staff, were waiting to receive the money, and tabulated the results.

At 11.30 the total was known, and the amount received was $5,000. We cannot speak too highly of the splendid co-operation given by the men, and the soldiers, and the wonderful response that came from the Churches, Sunday Schools, and Public Schools to our appeal for workers.

On November, 1914, Captain King started out trembling, feeling her unworthiness, weakness, and incapability for such a high position. She was given her first appointment, and what with stenography, record-keeping, housework, and the like, she was a very busy woman. She came to the Simla Corps, and as an extra came the editing of "The War-Cry," and she was a very busy woman. She was a very busy woman.

While here, she and Captain Thompson were married. Their marriage was celebrated in Calcutta, and afterwards to Delhi, the present Capital of India, and transferred to their present post.

PERSONAL SKETCHES

No. Adjutant Mrs. Thompson

Better known as Captain Day, this officer commenced her Salvation Army career by donning the Army bonnet at seven years of age. Well she remembers the plain blue cap and the white dress, with the three hours on top, and the struggles which led under the two officers. However, when fourteen years of age, she made her first appearance in the penitentiary, and there publicly sought Salvation.

A Training School. Nine years out of London's largest workrooms proved to her comrade what Moses' forty years' wilderness experience was to him—a training school. As the only revisionist there, times of persecution were at first her lot, but in due course she had the joy of meeting some of the two thousand girls made into Salvation Army Soldiers.

Corps Cadetship was a great joy and blessing to Sister Day. She was also the Young People's Council, held periodically at the Chelton Congress Hall. At the age of sixteen years of age, our comrade was the Young People's Sergeant-Major of the 117th Corps, and in recognition of her services, she was awarded the Keenings Lane Currier.

Life-Saving Guards. Give a Special Demonstration at St. John's—Colonel Martin Presides—Brigadier Prescott is Welcomed

COLONEL MARTIN presided at a very special demonstration given at St. John's, I. and I. Life-Saving Guards, under the leadership of Guard Leader Chelton Cave, of St. John's. It was assisted in the work by Adjutants Sainsbury and Morgan.

This demonstration was given at the St. John's, I. and I. Life-Saving Guards, under the leadership of Guard Leader Chelton Cave, of St. John's. It was assisted in the work by Adjutants Sainsbury and Morgan.

The title was, "God's Flower Land." Different troops of girls represented the following flowers: lilies, violets, daisies, buttercups, and roses. As each troop came on the platform it was met by a stranger on the road, and they sang songs and dialogues resulted. Finally the whole of the party, consisting of about thirty girls, dressed in their different costumes, gathered around a huge ark built on the platform, and in between the trees, which represented the forest, they sang several of the songs of the flowers represented.

These girls were met by $238, of which $110 was given out as charity to the poor, and the balance of the money was given to the St. John's, I. and I. Life-Saving Guards, under the leadership of Guard Leader Chelton Cave, of St. John's. It was assisted in the work by Adjutants Sainsbury and Morgan.

During the visit of Major Kallier, over two hundred souls knelt at the altar. A great number also placed themselves upon the altar for a deeper work of grace.

The Major's visit has been a real uplift to our souls. Thirty new recruits were enrolled by the Major, and there are more to follow.

There have also been three weddings at the altar. Brother Charles Richards was united to Sister Young, then followed Brother Bray, who was united to Sister Groves of Bonaville; then came our worthy Secretary, in the person of Brother Carter, who was united to Sister King, sister of the Bandmaster.

Service is starting on our Young People's Hall in a few days, and there is a rumour of several musical instruments being added to the Band.

the United States the deaf population in the schools is 13,654. The largest school is at Mt. Airy, Pennsylvania, with 533 in attendance. These statistics show that Canada has kept pace with the United States in providing schools for the deaf.

1 SONGS OF HOME AND MOTHER

IN A GRAVEYARD LONELY.

Tune—"Tell me with your eyes." In a graveyard lonely, many miles away, Lies your dear old mother, 'neath the cold, cold clay. Memories now returning of her face and smile in the skies.

Chorus. Listen to her pleading, "Wandering boy, come home." Lovingly entreating, do no longer roam.

Let thy manhood waken, heavenward lift thine eyes, If you love your mother, meet her in the skies.

Now the old home vacant has no charm for you, One dear form is absent—mother, kind, and true;

Where she dwells forever pleasure never dies, If you love your mother, meet her in the skies.

Sacred vows you've broken in your wayward life, Strongest pledges spoken, forgotten in the strife;

Hope has almost left you, will thou not be wise, If you love your mother, meet her in the skies.

TELL MOTHER I'LL BE THERE

When I was but a little child how well I recollect How I would grieve my mother with my folly and neglect; And now that she has gone to Heaven I miss her tender care; O Saviour, tell my mother I'll be there!

Chorus. Tell mother I'll be there, in answer to her prayer.

This message, blessed Saviour, to her bear! Tell mother I'll be there, Heaven's joys with her to share, Yes, tell my darling mother I'll be there!

Though I was often wayward, she was always kind and good; So patient, gentle, loving, when I acted rough and rude; My childhood griefs and trials she would gladly with me share; O Saviour, tell my mother I'll be there!

One day a message came to me, it made me quickly come If I would see my mother ere the Saviour took her home;

I promised her, before she died, for Heaven to prepare; O Saviour, tell my mother I'll be there!

MY WANDERING BOY.

Where is my wandering boy to-night— The boy of my tenderest care— The boy that was, once my joy and light, The child of my love and prayer?

Oh, where is my boy to-night? Oh, where is my boy to-night? My heart yearns for I love him, he knows;

Oh, where is my boy to-night? Once he was pure as morning dew, As he knelt at his mother's knee; No face was so bright, no heart more true,

And none was so sweet as he. Go for my wandering boy to-night; Go search for him where you will;

But bring him to me with all his blight, And tell him I love him still!

NO FRIEND LIKE MOTHER.

Tune—"She was bred in Old Kentucky."

In a little western town there's a gravel-covered mound, Underneath the which my aged mother rests;

And my eyes oft fill with tears when I look back to those years, When I knelt in prayer with her, whom I love best;

Then all life was bright and fair, and my young heart knew no care, But my joy soon passed like chaff before the gale.

When I followed her I loved to a cheerless grave, And with aching heart I had a long farewell.

Chorus. There's no friend on earth like mother, none so loving, none so true;

None can soothe the pain of suffering as a mother's hand can do. But she never loved like Jesus, Who was slain that He might save us.

He's so loving and kind and true. Many years have passed away since that saddest of all days,

When I had a long farewell to her I love. And they bore her through the gloom to that cold and silent tomb,

And her spirit winged its flight to worlds above. But though mother dear is gone, beside me still is One,

Whose loving care protects me all the way. Soon my pilgrimage will end, and to Glory I'll ascend,

Meet my angel mother in the realms of day.

Have You Written Home to Mother?

Pray, may I ask you, worthy lad, Whose smiles no care can wholly fade, Though busy life throbs round about, Have you written home to mother?

You are fast forgetting, aren't you, quite How fast the weeks went flying; And that a little bitter-sweet Unanswered still is lying.

Don't you remember how she stood, With wistful glance at parting? Don't you remember how the tears Were in the soft eyes she obtained?

Have you forgotten how her arm Stole around you to caress you?

Have you forgotten those low words: "Godbless my son; God bless you?"

Oh! do not wrong her patient love; Save God's there is no other so faithful through all mist of sin; Fair not to write to mother.

Shall her you love her dearly still, For far some and to-morrow Tell her away the listening soul, And leave you lost in sorrow.

And then, through bitter, failing tears, And sighs you may not another, You will remember, when too late, You did not write to mother.
